Introduction

The Zodiacal Taurus

Whether your sun sign is Taurus or not, the Taurean features are worth knowing about, especially if you are of a water sign. The extremely earthly and worldly Taurus native at times turns out to be emotionally, and especially intellectually, blunt to such an extent that they become intolerable and impossible to deal with. Again, some intimate time with the same Taurean person can become precious memories of your lifetime. It is therefore necessary to be aware of the basically and factually 'material' and yet apparently 'practical' Taurean.

So far as dealing with the material aspects are concerned, there is hardly any competitor that can outdo the Taureans. This is what makes them appear practical. But their obsession for security, especially for long term financial stability, can make them so material that they are impossible to live with. A Taurean can become a real bull because of his bluntness if the planetary positions add to the materialistic attitude of the Taurus native.

Taurus

General Character

'Phlegmatic' is a word which some astrologers often use to describe a Taurean. Hence, a sordid practicality and a certain amount of earthiness is a notable trait amongst the Taureans. In adulthood, the Taurean's goal is security, comfort and lack of anxiety. Worries repel the Taureans as they hate to be anxious about any thing on earth. They are known to be very good acquaintances and friends.

The Taureans are patient and determined. However, a distant possibility of financial instability or material loss can make a Taurean behave like a mad an enraged bull.

Taurus Life Style

As individuals, Taureans are very determined in their decisions. Never do they get distracted from their goals and decisions which have already been taken. A steady and functional life style is what they ultimately want. They do not believe in unnecessary risk taking or dealing in speculation. In fact they hardly bother if their life style seems boring to others as long as they enjoy the way they are living.

Taurus

Sexuality & Emotions

Taureans value their personal possessions a lot, whether it relates to the materialistic things or their partners. Jealousy is one of the incessant characters of a Taurean. According to them, a rival is not just a rival, but a thief who is trying to steal their possession. But the positive side of a Taurean is that he/she cares for his/her partner a lot. Thus, the partner of a Taurean is cared for with sincerity and devotion. Irony is that it does not take much time before that care, devotion and sincerity is shifted to someone else. The reason may appear obscure. But money and material can be thought as the common guiding stars for the Taureans.

Taurus

Profession Profile

The Taureans excel in those careers or jobs where they feel the sense of need and security. A slow but a steady job, with a guaranteed promotion and a good retirement life complemented with a handsome pension, is the ideal kind of job for the Taureans. So they are never good in freelance journalism or selling insurance on a daily commission basis. Rather they are good in accounting jobs or anything involving money, provided no risk taking is concerned. Taureans will gladly work overtime and stretch their duty or working hours, provided the job gives them satisfaction. Working in places where they can enjoy good vocational holidays is something, which attracts them very much. Stability in jobs and careers are their prime concern. In short, Taureans are very sensitive and egoistic about their careers. They are also gifted with a melodious voice.
